A SHOOTING AFFRAY

Robert Berry Gave a Bullet from John Lill's Revolver, for Attempting to Prevent a Fight.

A serious shooting affray occurred at a dance Friday evening, at the home of Clark Vins, who resides about three miles south of town, the participants being John Lill, living south of town, and Robert Berry, of this city. It appears that Lill and a man named Grace commenced the disturbance inside the house, and after quarreling a short time, Lill started to leave and was followed outside by Grace, where the quarrel was renewed. At this time Berry came out of the house, it is claimed, and was trying to put an end to the disturbance, when Lill drew a revolver and fired one shot, the bullet striking Berry about the center of his left shoulder blade and lodging near the lungs. Although he is said to be dangerously hurt he is able to be up and about the streets. Lill was arrested and given a preliminary hearing before Squire Payne this morning, who bound him over to court. He gave $500 bond and was released.

Frank Mayo.

The appearance of Mr. Frank Mayo and his excellent company at Music Hall next Friday evening will be a great dramatic treat for Marion theatre goers. As a romantic actor Mr. Mayo stands at the head of his profession. Handsome, easy and graceful in person, and of long experience in stage craft, he is perfectly fitted, both by nature and training, for the brilliant impersonation of heroes of romances. The supporting company is an unusually large and powerful one, containing as it does such well known leading actors as Edmund Collier, Henry Axling, James H. Taylor, Oscar Eagle, Adelaide Fitz-Allen, Maria Burress and Loyola O'Connor. Mr. Mayo brings his own scenery, which was painted especially for the Royal Guard by Mr. Levy, the New York artist. There are several views of ancient Paris, also the Port of Calais and the interior of the Duc de Buckingham's ship. The costumes are rich and magnificent, being of the period of Louis XIV of France. It is unlikely that Mr. Mayo will ever chance to visit Marion again, and no one should miss this opportunity of seeing the famous actor. Seats on sale at Tristram & Young's.

What Springfield Thinks of Him.

Manager Sargent has the following letter from the manager of the Grand Opera House at Springfield:

Springfield, O., March 22d, 1888.

Jas. H. Sargent, Manager Music Hall, Marion Ohio.

Dear Sir: Yours of the 11th is before me stating you have booked Frank Mayo for the 25th and wish your citizens to know what kind of an attraction he is. I can never tell you, we have played Mayo every season for the last seven or eight years, and we consider him one of the strongest attractions on the road. The fact is, Mayo never gives a poor entertainment, and the more he is playing this season, we think better than any time he has played before.

He always enters a first-class company, and your citizens can count on his attraction as being first-class in every respect, as Mayo is a man who will not travel with a poor company, and we consider, as said before, his attraction one of the strongest on the road. In fact, there is no attraction which comes to this city that draws better, and from the best class of our citizens. Yours Truly,

F. C. L. TRISTRAM, Manager of the above House.

A Source of Much Money.

The figures showing the revenue brought into Marion county by horse buyers who ship to eastern markets, would be a surprise to many who have never stopped to figure what a vast sum is distributed in that way.

R. H. Resher, the well known horse buyer, who has made shipments from this section for the past five years, finds that he alone has expended among Marion county farmers the sum of $155,000 in that length of time. Mr. Resher is a prominent buyer but there are others who buy extensively and it is reasonable to estimate that the amount expended for horses purchased of Marion county farmers exceeds the sum of $100,000 annually.

Rich the Horses.

The delivery team belonging to Ackerman's City Bakery was left standing in front of the Centennial block this forenoon, and suddenly started to run east. They first took the sidewalk for their course, and then took the middle of the street and ran to east Marion, fortunately doing but little damage.

This incident and many others of like kind remind us constantly of the carelessness there is in allowing horses to stand on the streets without being tied. These run-aways are dangerous to life and property, and they could be avoided if there was not so much carelessness—this is almost criminal.

"Percussion Instruments" will be used in the overture rendered by the Orchestra Club. If you do not know what they are go to Music Hall, Wednesday evening and find out.

—The vocal selections by Miss Cochran with violin obligato by Prof. Davis will be among the most artistic performances. At Music Hall, Wednesday evening.

—Dr. Wiant intends moving his office from the rooms which he now occupies, to the new house south of J. S. Reed's, on East street, in a few days.

—Miss Sawyer, who was the guest of Mrs. Loda, on north West street, a few days, returned to her home in Galien last Saturday.

—The little people of the Presbyterian Church hope to see all their friends at Music Hall on Tuesday evening.
